

Extrusion Connection

Typical Connection

Typical Connection (cont'd)

Double Lock Connection

Most horizontal extrusion connections have a patented expandable lock. This lock inserts into the groove of an opposing extrusion. Tightening the lock with the Hex Key Tool expands the lock and creates a strong positive connection.